CAREER PROFILE

Burton Edwards is project principal for Siegel & Strain's historic projects. He has been project manager and preservation architect for commercial, institutional and historic projects throughout the state. Prior to joining the firm, Mr. Edwards headed his own firm specializing in residential design and historic preservation. His projects have won awards from the National Trust for Historic Preservation, California Preservation Foundation, Berkeley Architectural Heritage Association, Oakland Heritage Alliance and San Francisco AIA. His work has been published in New Architecture San Francisco and has also appeared on the cover of Metropolitan Home.

Mr. Edwards is an active participant in historic preservation and civic design issues. He completed nearly eight years of service on the City of Berkeley Landmarks Preservation Commission (Chair 1999–2001) and the city's Design Review Committee (Chair 1999–2001 and 2004–2006). He co-founded and served as president of the Building Conservancy of Northern California – a non-profit dedicated to the preservation and restoration of historic properties and a recent grant recipient from the University Chancellor's Community Partnership Fund.
