

Seven Hills School: Hunt Hall

WALNUT CREEK, CALIFORNIA

DESCRIPTION

Hunt Hall houses middle school classrooms, the gymnasium/multi-purpose room and miscellaneous service rooms. The original building is a modern stucco building that does not fit in with the older, original farm buildings that distinguish the campus of this independent K through 8 school.

The new addition adds three new classrooms, a faculty lounge and office area, and remodels and expands an existing science lab and computer classroom. The addition is designed to link Hunt Hall – which is somewhat remote and not fully accessible – to the rest of campus with new covered walkways and a new stair and elevator. The L-shaped addition embraces a new courtyard that is used for much-needed outdoor classroom and gathering space for the middle school.

The design, which reflects the qualities of the original farmhouse buildings, will set the design standard and type for future campus buildings.
